Dear Year 6 Pupil,

We thought it might be nice to send you a weekly update of what we are doing to help you prepare for your transition to Chepstow School! Just because we cannot physically meet with all of you at the moment, you are all still very much in our thoughts.

Things you may be wondering about

Moving to secondary school is both exciting and new, and we are sure that there are questions that you have. Our Student Union are busy preparing videos for you to answer questions that you may have. We are uploading these to our website every few days but please feel free to contact us if there are things you are concerned about that are personal to you. You can contact Ms Miller, Head of Year 7, Mrs Holder, our ALNCo or myself directly on the following email addresses:

Useful Contact Details

Assistant Headteacher (Transition)

Home Learning

Ms Miller has been busy preparing a home learning booklet for you to be able to tell us a little more about yourself. Over the next few weeks, it would be great if you could complete this so that when we are able to meet you in person, we can chat about the things that you have included.

Getting to know us

If you look on our website, you will see a Transition page, which will tell you all about the main teachers that you will spend most of your time with in Year 7. We can tell you all about us, our main subjects, extra things that we do in school, amongst other things!

Our community

At Chepstow School, our community is hugely important to us. You may be aware that we have been very busy with charitable work to support St David's Hospice to acquire much needed PPE equipment and funds to support them. Our Design and Technology department have made over 800 visors, protective aprons and we have raised nearly £2000. We have done this by hosting our very own Chepstow's Got Talent competition on Twitter and this Friday 22nd May, we will be hosting our very own music festival called The Endless Summer

Festival. This is a virtual festival where we will showcase the talents of our school community for all to see. Details on how you can watch the festival will be available on our website shortly.

Remember to keep in touch and look at YOUR page on our website daily for information, videos and much more!

Take care and stay safe...

Warm wishes,

Emma Mellen
Assistant Headteacher
